Dear Jonathan,

I think its a little too much

I have come across the job advertisement on Glassdoor for the iXp Intern Agile Developer, HANA, and Analytics position. As an individual who takes the initiative, perseveres and stays curious, and is backed with a strong background in Information Technology, I would thrive in SAP's collaborative and project-driven environment.

Already mentioned in the first paragraph

In my studies in the ~~Computer Information Technology program~~ at the British Columbia Institute of Technology, I have applied my knowledge to various projects, including creating a ~~small-scale~~ Hangman game using Python, designing a front-end interface for a local beverage company and a front-end note-taking web app using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I have also gained hands-on experience with industry tools such as Visual Studio Code, Docker for containerization, and utilizing version control using Git and GitHub.

Consider putting experience first as you have significant amount and quality

In my previous work history, I have had the opportunity of ~~wearing many hats~~ to solve problems. As a Junior Team Leader at the Vancouver Police Department, I coordinated and led a team of over 100 volunteers, delegated tasks, scheduled shifts, and communicated with police constables as a leader for the youth cadet program. As a Tech specialist with London Drugs, I also gained exceptional customer service experience while troubleshooting computer and other consumer electronics problems.

i think it be best to cut out a sentence as it feels a little overpowering/clingy

→ I am highly motivated to learn, teach, and grow. I am a critical thinker passionate about developing → software end-to-end, embracing agile software development principles, and maintaining code with unit
→ testing. I am eager to grow my leadership, presentation, and other soft skills to become a valuable asset to the company. I appreciate your consideration, and I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my qualifications in more detail. You can contact me by email (ramithr11@gmail.com) or by phone number ((604) 442-4158) at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,
Ramith Rajan

~~Software Developer~~ not yet :)

Overall, i think its really good, theres only a couple issues, but they are more opinionated. Depending on your hiring manager, it might be beneficial to have lots of motivation/eagerness.
